USE OF CHARMS AS CURES IS AGE-OLD

Interesting Data Found in Museum Collection.

WASHINGTON.—That bedraggled rabbi who your grandpappy used to slip into his pocket on cold, rainy days—did he ever tell you who told him of its efficacy in warding off the evil spirits?

If he didn't, Dr. Charles Whitebread of the National Museum wants you to know that probably grandpappy explained that the left hand of a rabbi, caught in a graveyard in the dark of the moon, was an infallible protection against evil spirits—and that grandpappy's grandpappy was doubtless tipped off by his grandpappy—said so on, back into the Dark Ages, where came most of our modern superstitions.

Has "Charm Cures." Doctor Whitebread is the supervisor of a collection of superstitious relics on display in the National Museum, which is the product of many years of search and investigation. The "charm cures" display is unique insofar as it is one of two collections of its kind in the United States. Doctor Whitebread is convinced of its utility as a public health aid, stating that a display offers warning against reliance on "charms" to prevent or cure human ailments.

If, however, you are a proponent of the "charm cure," and a vegetarian with rheumatism, the display features a horse chestnut, which must be "buzzed or stolen," as a never-failing remedy for your ailment.

Balk "Charley Horse." Or if the depression has left you with the "shakes," try a spider, enclosed in a nutshell—considered enough in ancient Greece as relief for the ague.

When domestic strife and storm is at crescendo, simply slip a penny root in your pocket and your belabored wife is immune from collapse. The embryonic penny, it seems, carries "crossed fingers" against insanity.

Managers of professional baseball teams might well lay in a supply of sheep's knee-caps, which allow no cramped muscles to beset their masters. Thus the dreaded "charley horse" would be laid among the daisies. Doctor Whitebread professed ignorance whether the "sheep's knees" are purported to work their spell north of the neck.

Doctor Whitebread's records hold compelling evidence revealing continuing use of many charms such as those displayed at the museum.

A recent survey conducted among high school students, reads the records, "showed that 22 per cent of those interviewed believed that a horse hair left in a bottle would become a snake. Eighteen per cent were sure that application of a 'mad stone' to a dog bite was the proper remedy for rabies."

Ex-Master's Hog Call Is Irresistible to Sow

Billings, Mont.—"Her master's voice" proved irresistible to a hog near here. It happened like this:

Three years ago Farmer George L. Anderson of Lake Basin purchased the sow from "Dad" Hoerr of Billings. A few days ago Hoerr entered a hog-calling contest over a local radio station. He stood before the microphone and trumpeted, "So-sey, so-sey, so-sey, so-sey, so-sey."

Suddenly there was a commotion in the Anderson farmyard. A sow rammed through a fence and followed by all her litter, waddled toward the radio in the farmhouse. Only the timely intervention of Anderson saved his household from invasion.

"A Bible and a Newspaper in every home"

—said Benjamin Franklin, whose death on April 17, 1790, we remember this week.

IF YOU asked the founder of a great library system what reading matter you should place in your home, you might expect him to hand you a sizable list of books.

But old Ben Franklin, father of the free library system of our country, being a man to put first things first, might have looked over the top of his glasses at you, and repeated "a Bible and a newspaper in every home."

Franklin himself was Printer and Publisher . . . and an advertising writer. He recognized, as you do, that good advertising is NEWS. Back in 1780, when a ship came to port with a consignment of India shawls and some merchant announced this in the newspaper, you may imagine that that item meant more to the ladies of the day than the usual chronicle of somebody's cow "lost, strayed or stolen."

An editor gathers up the news from all corners of the globe, just as a merchant gathers up his stock of goods. Then the story of both is carried in the newspaper. Both mean a great deal to every reader.

Knights Of Columbus Annual Communion Breakfast Drew 300

One of the most prominent speakers in the annual communion breakfast was the Rev. W. J. Whalen, Fordham Prefect of Discipline, Althach Manager Jack Coffey and football coach James Crowley.

Members of Kingston Council, 275 Knights of Columbus, received their annual communion Sunday morning in St. Mary's Church, appearing at the altar in a body numbering more than 300 during the 8 o'clock Mass offered by the Rev. Dean John J. Stanley, pastor, who was assisted by the Rev. Fathers William H. Kennedy and James P. Moore in administering the sacrament to the men. Music was rendered by the K. of C. choir under the direction of T. Riccobono, organist of St. Mary's.

Following the Mass the Knights gathered in their hall, corner of Broadway and Andrew street, where breakfast was served by a corps of girls from the Newman Club and St. Francis Academy, under the direction of Herbert J. Swarthout, of the Columbia Restaurant, and a fine speaking program enjoyed by the men who heard from one of the most interesting, informative and entertaining group of orators ever presented here.

The list of speakers, introduced by City Judge Bernard A. Culliton, who was presented by Grand Knight Robert A. Donnarumma, included the Rev. William J. Whalen, S. J., prefect of discipline at Fordham University; Jack Coffey, graduate manager of athletics at the same school; James Crowley, Fordham football coach, and one of the famous four horsemen of Notre Dame; the Rev. Dean John J. Stanley; Charles Sbarboro, district dep-

4-H MEMBERS GUESTS OF HOLSTEIN CLUB

4-H Club members who placed in the State 4-H Holstein Friesian Calf Club Contest have been invited as the guests of the Ulster County Holstein Club at its annual banquet on April 18 at the New Paltz Grange Hall.

Adult breeders representing all the breeds of dairy cattle of Ulster county are contributing to the building up of the 4-H Dairy Club work of the county. The hospitality of the Holstein Club is one feature of the cooperation program.

All awards to winners in the calf club contest will be made at the banquet by Pratt Boice, chairman of the Ulster County 4-H Club Department Board. The New Paltz Calf Club will receive a cash award. William Hasbrouck, New Paltz, and William Spencer, Walkkill, are the highest scoring individuals from Ulster county in the contest and will both receive cash awards. Other guests at the banquet include: Lewis and Roger Boice, Lake Katrine; Bernard Wross, Upper Ulster; Julius Herschowsky and Irving Friedberg, Accord; Howard Limbacher, William, Dorothy and Edna Gerds, Sawkill; Thelma and Florence Tucker, Walkkill; Harold Meredith, Walkkill; Arthur Davis, Olive Bridge, who will each receive either a $1.00 award of a certificate, and Margaret Latimer, acting county club agent.

The Rev. Dean Stanley spoke briefly at the beginning of the program, extending a welcome to the guests, the Knights and friends. District Deputy Sbarboro made a plea for increased membership, urging every Knight to take an interested part in the drive for more men. He as well as Dean Stanley complimented the Knights on their splendid turnout at communion and at the breakfast.

Father William J. Whalen, S. J., gave the featured and closing address, saying, "This is an inspiring sight, a sight for angels and men. Your pastors have a reason to be proud of you. I am sure the Lord is pleased with your public demonstration of faith, showing to all that you are members of the Catholic Church founded by Jesus Christ. This is the only church that can trace history back to Christ, a church which has kept burning the torch of education as well as faith."

Father Whalen dwelt for a time on figures showing the promotion of education by the church in the way of parochial schools, high schools and institutions of higher learning. He named prominent Catholic leaders in the fields of astronomy, electricity, medicine, chemistry, physics and other lines and contradicted the belief of many that those who embrace the Catholic faith must be opposed to science.

Father Whalen urged the Knights of Columbus to adhere to the principles of their order, assisting the church in its doctrines of faith and furthering it as the mother of art and science.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the breakfast was George D. Logan, chairman; Dennis Fennelly, Andrew Juhl, Judge Bernard A. Culliton, Walter Donnarumma, James P. Friel, Addison Freer and Joseph McCann.

FASHIONS by ELEANOR GUNN

The Milliner's Way With Sailors

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild.

The small sailor is of navy blue in a medium rough straw which is lashed with beading which ties in a bow on either side. The center is fashioned of strips of bamboo dyed in bright colors. The large hat is more formal and of black haku. The trimming reflects the 1880 period, in its old-fashioned cluster of pink rosebuds, framed in a ruche of black satin.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Unless the summer prognostications are incorrect we are trotting into a horsey season. We have had much talk of race track plaids and checks in woollens.

The pony prints on cottons that came out at Palm Beach time are being repeated for summer. And there is a horse's head print seen in tailored dresses which is very nice.

Up or Down and No Compromise

New York. It is positively exciting to try to choose this season, and more so than usual, for there is just one thing one is going to do. The dress is so different instead of each being a slight variation of the same theme.

The success of a dress really hangs on the neck. If a collar, or a roundest line is not flattering, the dress is lost. A good neckline can do wonders for a dress which otherwise is distinctly below par.

Most women, especially the short-necked variety, find fault in the V neck. Rounded necklines, they will tell you, make one look rounder. Well, then, what is your reaction to the new line of all the square one. Being new makes it interesting. Whether it is flattering or not depends on several things. Its depth for one, its width for another. The very low square decolletage is, as a rule, flattering to a woman of rounded lines but it has to be cut low in order to do much for her. So long as no one expects a dress to be cut level back and front, or even on the same line, one is spared worrying about whether the square neck is good at the back or not.

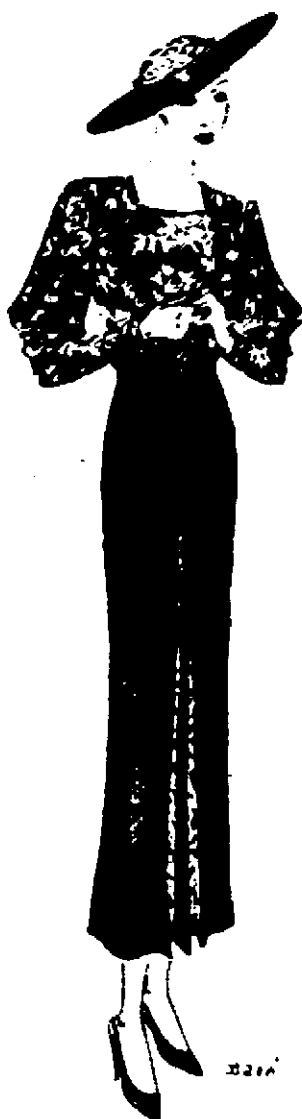

There have been rumors for some time that bodies having gone up, are about to come down. To date there is not much to substantiate these rumors. My guess would be that in order to look chic one must either wear a high, or a low cut, bodice. Compromises do nothing for you, nothing right that is. The intermediate stage has a tendency to look frumpy.

Bows Galore

Whether clothes have sleek or romantic tendencies, bows, those badges that are never separated from a frivolous mood in clothes, are very much in abundance this spring. You see them in all kinds of dresses.

The privilege of puffs that has resulted from crisp fabrics like taffeta and organdie, is extended to the way bows are handled too. Now they appear looped in big, round puffs at the neckline in front, on the shoulders, at the back of the waistline and again on skirts as trimming.

A NEW NECKLINE

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild.

This afternoon ensemble from Worth is in black heavy semi-sheer and black crepe printed in blue and pink. A fan pleated insert at front combines the two fabrics and two metal clips fasten the bodice at front. The short capelet accompanying this is bordered with fox.

BEST DRESSED 4-H GIRLS OFFERED MANY PRIZES

Four-H girls who can "dell up" becomingly have a chance to win fine prizes in this year in a contest to be conducted by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work of Chicago in cooperation with state and county club leaders.

The girls are required to model a complete outfit in one of four classes. They are a school wash dress or suit, a wool suit or rayon dress or suit for school, a "best" dress of any material—and an informal party dress. Winners of county contests, now being planned in many parts, will receive handsome medals and become eligible to the state reunion in which all winners paid by the Chicago Mail Order Company to the National Style House to be held at the National Club Congress in Chicago during the week of the International Live Stock Exposition.

The national contest will be staged in one of Chicago's finest banquet halls before over 1200 4-H delegates and leaders attending the Club Congress, and will be a classic feature of the year's club program. Prizes and medals will be awarded class winners and a gold medal of honor to the national champion.

Economy of the outfit will be given an important rating to induce girls to exercise thrift and originality. Contestants are required to make their dress, but may purchase the accessories. Last year's national winning outfit, a tailored costume, cost $21.21. It employed a buckle and woolen scraps from an old dress. The reserve national champion outfit cost $12.41 complete, and included an original belt buckle made of two bracelets. A Louisiana girl won national honors on a cotton school dress and outfit costing $4.62. A 15-year old Arkansas girl won the same honor on a $7.44 outfit. Rules of the contest may be obtained from local and county club leaders.

The materials which would be most useful and attractive are printed percale as pictured, with white percale, or gingham with pique, or seersucker with pique. Needless to say it could also be made up all of one material and trimmed with buttons only.

Egypt Does Not Change

Egypt, the cradle of civilization, was great before either Greece or Rome was born. The valley of the Nile furnished the stage for the greatest drama of the past. Here were reared Egypt's stupendous pyramids, temples and monuments in the highest form of architecture to honor her great, while the rest of mankind was living in rude huts. Time has made but slight changes in the land of the Pharaohs. Egypt does not change.

Trophies in Green

In ancient Greece, a trophy was a memorial of victory erected on the spot where the enemy had turned the fight. Often one or two shields and helmets of the routed enemy, placed upon the trunk of a tree, served as the sign and memorial of victory. After a one-day trophy consisted of the battle and store-rooms of captured vessels, set up on the nearest coast.

Kingston: "Death Takes a Holiday." A strangely beautiful story of death who comes to earth disguised as a human being. He has wandered for a long time the reason that men fear him, and he decides to mingle with humanity and discover the feelings and emotions of human existence. So he comes to earth and attends a house party under the name of Prince Sirin. Here he finds romance and desire for the first time, and he falls completely in love with a beautiful girl. Death takes a holiday, but like all holidays, it comes before it has hardly begun. This play is one of the most intelligent and brilliant offerings ever to come from the movie mills, and it is a stand-out production of unusual merit. Excellent direction, masterful performances by a cast of real players and the unusual theme all blend into a perfect bit of thought provoking drama. Heading the cast is Fredric March in the title role, and supporting him are Evelyn Venable, Kent Taylor, Sir Guy Standing and Gail Patrick. Worth seeing.

Orpheum: "Devil Tiger" and "Marriage on Approval." Timorous people will do well to ignore the first offering, a story of the Malay jungle and a party of people who struggle through it in search of the devil tiger. It is excellent entertainment for those who enjoy the sight of real danger, for jungle beasts fight to the death before the eyes of the camera on many occasions. In fact this tale is one of the best edited and filmed of all the travelogue offerings of the past months. The plot isn't so much, although there is a smattering of romance woven into the story. Harry Woods and Marion Burns are featured in the cast. "Marriage on Approval" is one of those modern things with Donald Billway, Phyllis Barry and Barbara Kent heading the cast.

Broadway: "Broadway Through a Keyhole." Walter Winchell, and who hasn't heard of him, comes to the screen in the first movie of his own contriving. Naturally, the story is one of these peek-a-boo things behind the scenes along Broadway. It's the tale of a racketeer and a crooner, both in love with a night club entertainer. Believe it or not, the crooner is the victor in his quest for love. The bright lights of Broadway, the dances and songs and comedy form a perfect background for a story of this type. Constance Cummings, Russ Colombo, Paul Kelly and Frances Williams are featured in important roles.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Cinematic youth has turned over a new leaf and gone wholesome with a vengeance. It isn't starting up nights at cocktail parties, going on wild sprees, or kicking up its collective heels at conventions any more. It's doing some of the things that used to horrify parents—real as well as real—during the departed era of flapperism. The incorrigible flapper that was Alice White, the "Flaming Youth" type that made Colleen Moore famous, the "Dancing Daughter" that was Joan Crawford, and the "It Girl" of Clara Bow have no counterparts on the screen today. Nobody is playing those roles any more, because there are no more roles of the sort to play.

Colleen, Joan, Clara and Alice, foremost exponents of the "jazz age" in pictures, long since began devoting their talents to more serious portrayals.

Spirited And Wholesome

And the new girls, coming along to screen careers, are playing parts that allow them to be young and romantic, sweet and wholesome, without running the risk of being considered "quaint" or "old fashioned." They can be spirited and intelligent, rather than merely young and wild and reckless.

It's the flapper type that would be rated antiquated nowadays. Young actresses, types who might have been regarded as relics from the old family album had they appeared during the post-war jazz epidemic, are the girls now making steady strides to favor. They are the "modern girls" of today's cinema scene.

Sparkling youngsters like Jean Parker, poised young women like Evelyn Venable, sweet, wide-eyed personalities like Ruby Keeler, serious, serene young beauties like Jean Muir—these represent the girls of the present era on the screen.

'Hotcha' Types Fading

There are no strictly "hotcha" personalities in the youthful limelight. Ginger Rogers does that act in a comedy vein, but occasionally is seen also in the romantic moonlight-and-roses atmosphere. Even the youngsters who specialize in today's version of the flapper type, like Mary Carlisle, are merely mildly flirtatious and nicely naughty.

In the other period, the youth-film without at least one drinking scene was a freak. The boys and girls never failed to have a flask handy, and they didn't always bother with glasses. But there are young players on the screen now who haven't been required to guzzle a cocktail for a year or more, and there are even one or two who never have appeared in that kind of scene.

LOCAL DE MOLAY CHAPTER ANNOUNCES ACTIVITIES

The membership drive which is being conducted by members of the local chapter, order of DeMolay, still remains in a deadlock. Both teams are busily engaged securing new petitions for membership but as yet the two teams remain tied for the first position. The competition has worked up much enthusiasm with the result that the members of each respective team are doing their utmost to acquire first place for their team. Captains Erory and Clark will give a report of their team activity at the regular chapter meeting this evening.

The chapter's annual spring frolic will be held at the West Park Community Hall in West Park on Friday evening, April 27. "Speed" Scherer and his popular rhythm boys will furnish music for the event. The committee in charge of management has planned an evening that is expected to be long and remembered as an outstanding DeMolay social function. Tickets may be secured from any member of the local chapter.

The Pincush Club under the able direction of Fred Spall is steadily becoming a popular pastime after each regular meeting. At the present time, the club is composed of six members, but the interest is becoming so intense that a card party may be anticipated in the near future.

Members competing for the Representative DeMolay award are urged to complete their competitive examination of May 1, the time when all records must be in the hands of the scribe of the Grand Council.

The distinction of being designated as a Representative DeMolay is one of the highest honors awarded a DeMolay. It is bestowed not for late attainments in any one thing but in recognition of a fine development of the qualities and capacities which which go to make up an all-round individual.

The Order of DeMolay encourages its members to make the most of any gifts they have. It places a special emphasis upon the development of a variety of worthwhile qualities so that life will be well balanced. The Grand Council presents to each Representative DeMolay thus elected a beautiful recognition especially designed for this honor. The pin consists of the shield of the order, encircled by a laurel wreath, supporting the word "Representative" upon it. At the base of the wreath numerals show the year in which the award is made.

The following members are the young men who have attained the coveted distinction of Representative DeMolay in previous years and who are responsible for the honorary standing of Colonial Chapter: 1919—Richard Bailey. 1930—Fred Carpenter. 1931—Joseph F. Ross, Jr.; Edward Whitaker. 1932—Jacob C. Ludwig.

From all indications the local chapter appears to be striving for even greater laurels and the members are working hard to advance Colonial Chapter to the top of the list in honorary achievement.

Goldfinches Late Builders

Goldfinches are among the latest of our native birds to build their nests, usually delaying this activity until August. It has been suggested that the reason for this is that these birds like to line their nests with a thick layer of thistle-down and this is not available earlier.

"I might

in 'STEEL'

...but HOW I Know My Onions!"

HAM-and-Eggs take their dips and jumps just like Steel and Telephone. You can bet dollars to doughnuts most women wish there was a ticker in every kitchen.

A penny more or less in the price of bread or tomatoes can make a lot of difference when you're cooking for a family of five—and the woman who isn't long on buying sense may find herself short of cash!

But stocks and bonds are traded in a public exchange. Foods are sold over-the-counter and it's not the same thing at all. There's no "big board" to tell you what to pay for onions and cheese and soap and lard. All the more reason for you to know what NOT to pay!

If you are one of the 9,312 women who read the Daily Freeman every day, you'll know the answer. You'll know, for example, that "blind shopping" is needless extravagance. For the Daily Freeman Ads are your "price ticker," shopping list and sound buying guide all in one.

The ads tell you the price of a bottle of blueing or a can of beans—not only at one store but everywhere. The ads tell you what to serve for dinner tonight; they remind you what you need. The ads insure your getting real value because an advertising merchant knows you will compare his offering with others and choose the best!

And most important: these days—whether you're buying corn, stockings or gasoline—the Daily Freeman Ads point the way to quality. Most merchants know that anything less than real quality loses too much good will to be worth the cost of advertising it.

Make it a habit to shop through Daily Freeman Ads! You may never feel the thrill of scalping the market. But you'll have the solid satisfaction of knowing that your housekeeping dollar goes one hundred cents of the way!

Chocolate Begins Comeback Tonight

New York, April 15 (AP)—Already an ex-champion despite the fact he is only 22, Kid Chocolate begins a comeback campaign in San Francisco tonight.

The Cuban negro meets Frankie Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, in a ten-round match he hopes will lead him back into the "big money."

California will offer two other interesting bouts this week, King Levisky, Chicago's burly heavyweight, tackling Lee Kammage, clever youngster from San Diego, at Los Angeles tomorrow night while Bob Godwin, Florida light heavyweight who twice has beat Mickey Walker, to draw will meet Frank Rowley of Los Angeles at Hollywood on Friday.

Heavyweight champion's tour continues with a new bout against Clyde Clifton of Tampa at Ocala, Fla. City tonight but the Harlem clown's light heavyweight title will not be at stake.

College Ball Clubs Take Off This Week

New York, April 15 (AP)—If they can get a break from the weather, eastern intercollegiate baseball league teams will write six more games into the records this week.
Starting on Wednesday with a Penn-Columbia clash at New York, the schedule calls for Harvard to play Princeton in Tigertown Thursday, and Yale to battle Penn at Philadelphia on Saturday while Cornell is entertaining Princeton in a double-header at Ithaca, the same day.

So far only one game has been completed, Yale, favorite with Columbia for the title, downing Dartmouth, 9-3, at Dartmouth on Saturday. This battle was featured by the great pitching of George Parker, Yale captain. Parker gave up only three hits while his teammates were punched out ten at the expense of Miller and Olson, who shared the Dartmouth pitching burden.

Uptown Rotary Boys Beat Downtown Nine

The Uptown Junior Rotary Boys Club baseball team beat the Downtown Junior Rotary team in a hotly contested game Saturday morning at Barmann's Field. The score was 33-27. Alfred Mayone pitched for the victors, allowing ten hits in five innings. Farrell McElrath finished the game. William Ball was the starting pitcher for the victors but he had difficulty in finding the plate, and after allowing eight walks in the first few minutes of play, he was removed in favor of Mayone. Christian Bowers pitched a nice game of ball for the losers along with Francis Coughlin.

Home runs were made by Alfred Mayone and Farrell McElrath for the winners, and Christian Bowers for the Downtown team. Clarence Markie umpired the game. Friction in the ranks of the Downtown team caused them to play with but three men in the final inning.

Dolson All Stars Bow to Newburgh

Evelyn Dolson's All Stars found the Newburgh American Legion Auxiliary bowling team too strong for them at Emerick's alleys, Sunday, bowing to the visitors by the margin of 50 pins. Final score of the 11th between the ladies was Newburgh 2091, Dolsons 2011. High single honors went to Miss Williams of Newburgh and high triple to her teammate, Miss Edwards, 445. Evelyn Dolson was high for her team, turning in a single of 165 and triple of 124.

Immanuel Alleys in Mid-Hudson Tourney

The following team from the Immanuel alleys will enter in the Mid-Hudson Sweepstakes Tournament to be bowled at the Richmond & Hovey alleys at Walden, New York:
Harry Stuetz, Gus Wiedemann, Clara Buddenheiser, Ernie Alward and William Thell.

This team is composed of both Immanuel and Livingston bowling team members of the City League.

New York, April 15 (AP)—Sixteen major league clubs, all of them enveloped in a brand new aura of optimism, will give the 1934 baseball season its big sendoff tomorrow, following today's preview at Washington which brings together the Senators and the Boston Red Sox.

On every side only cheerful words are heard about the year's prospects. Players of a dozen clubs say to look for them in the World Series; less exuberant managers predict they will be at least close to the top club owners already have their ears cocked to hear the turnstiles clicking at a merrier rate, and it's a faint hearted fan who won't claim the pennant, world championship and everything in sight for his favorite club.

Close Fights

The pennant races in both leagues figure to be close. The swaps and purchases of the busy off-season bring a lot of new faces to attract the fans. The further strengthening of the Red Sox and the new deal at Cincinnati under the owner of Lower balance in the standings while the first Sunday baseball in Pennsylvania may help the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Clubs recoup their losses of recent years. National League magnates hope the new ball and increased slugging will attract more fans to their parks.

Five teams approach the season under new management. In the American League Mickey Cochrane is expected to lift Detroit's Tigers into a contending position and Buck Harris guides the Red Sox. Casey Stengel of Brooklyn, Jimmy Wilson of Philadelphia and Bob O'Farrell of Cincinnati are the National League's new pilots.

Pre-Season Favorites.
The 1933 pennant winners, the New York Giants and Washington Senators, have been installed as pre-season favorites to repeat but recently the New York Yankees have gained an even rating with the Senators in the American League betting odds with Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit not far behind.

The world champion Giants have maintained their place as favorites despite their poor showing in exhibition games, the fact that they must open the campaign with Gus Mancuso and Hughes Critz still on the sidelines and with their hitting and pitching both below par.

Arrayed against them are the Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis and Boston clubs, any one of which might slip into the pennant with a few breaks. The Cubs, with Chuck Klein in the outfield and improved otherwise, come up with a terrific attack which may carry them through Pittsburgh, with another collection of powerful hitters, has been strengthened in the mound department with the acquisition of Red Luce and the improvement of some of the younger members of last year's staff.

Real contenders.
The Cardinals also have gathered strength, largely by installing Buster Willis in center field and adding Young Paul Dean to the pitching corps. Boston intends to stand pat on the team which remained in the fight until late in the 1933 season although the Braves may feel heavily the loss of Rabbit Maranville, veteran second sacker who suffered a broken leg in the spring training.

The old Yankees slugging combination, plus improved pitching and the players.

SPORT SLANTS

It seems that the British have been persuaded to try "all-in" wrestling, which presumably is nothing for catch-as-catch-can grunting and growling. The Sporting Searchlight of London deplores an apparent skepticism, pointing out that "during the past few months more than 100,000 people have witnessed all-in wrestling bouts in New York and that 100,000 Americans can't be wrong."

For the benefit of the doubting Thomases, the Searchlight visualizes the scenes connected with the business in America as follows: "Crowds are swarming round Madison Square Garden every week. And every week the crowd is getting bigger. Picture the scene. Row upon row of flushed, eager faces surrounding the flood-lit ring. Every eye focused on two giants, sweating, straining, battling for physical supremacy. At the close of the entertainment a well-satisfied multitude leave the building. There are no fusties, no one-punch winners as in boxing."

"Over here," continues the Searchlight, "the sport is still in its infancy. And it is no secret that a section of the Press still views all-in wrestling with rather dubious eyes. Their attitude is characteristic of our race. We always dislike 'new' things. We distrust that which threatens to upset our ideas on sport."

Perish the distrustful thought and let 'em have their fun!

Pleanty Other Sport Shows:
Whether or not our British cousins welcome the advent of "all-in" wrestling, they will no doubt have their well-established sporting interests stirred by the approaching invasion of a half-dozen American expeditions in other fields of activity.

With the Davis Cup inter-zone and challenge rounds to be played at Wimbledon in July for the first time since pre-war days, the English will have their hands full keeping up with the competitive pace.

America's Walker Cup golf team, captained by Francis Ouimet and including our foremost young amateurs, will start the parade of off-season sports, with the parade of off-season sports, with the parade of off-season sports.

The Wightman Cup matches are scheduled this year at Wimbledon, bringing together the women stars of the two countries on the tennis courts, but the U. S. A. likely will have to get along without the services of Helen Wills Moody for the second straight year. Our ladies gained a close victory at Forest Hills last summer, thanks to a double triumph in the singles by Helen Jacobs, but they will be lucky to repeat.

The Cornell-Princeton track team's trip holds forth the prospect of another mile-running duel between Bill Bonthron and Jack Lovelock, the Oxford ace and world record-holder. It isn't likely to duplicate their memorable meeting at Princeton last July, however, unless Lovelock shows more signs of recovery from an alling leg.

Fun On Horseback, Too.
Our lads also will give the British some entertainment on horseback. In addition to the entry of the American horses, Gusto and Mate, in some of the English flat-racing classics, a high-goal polo team featuring Elmer, Hoeske, Jr., 10-goal Californian, is going abroad for the mid-summer season at Harringham. "Shorty" Knott, Harold Talbot and Billy Post will complete the polo quartet, which will rate 30 goals and probably be the equal of any English team can mount at the present time.

Colonial Pin Boys Defeat Emericks, 139
